Palmer's Priors Hall Of Fame

In such a small field (13) of players Dave Palmer etches his name in the Priors Hall of fame with a round of 35 stableford points. It seems he found the back 9 easier with some of us on the course heard the running commentary. The surprising thing about his 35 points was he didn't score on the first hole and then didn't par one single hole after that and even the no returns stopped. What a round and what a voice!! I may put an application in for the voice on his behalf or he could be our entertainment at the presentation evening. Seriously though, well done Dave. As you know you have awoken the grim reaper and he is prepared to do some serious damage. In second place with a credible 34 and scoring on every hole was Paul Holmes. Looks like he is coming to some form and maybe make a charge for the Caratella Cup? Keep up the good work Paul. Shane (I will tell you I am off to Cyprus every time I see you) Harrower comes in third. Great front 9 but didn't like the back 9. Oh! what could have been Shane if you only hit a better tee shot on the 12th which was also nearest the pin hole.

With regards the course? I thought it was a very good course. Very pleasant, with some interesting holes. They did look after us too. With that service and the course layout I can just about oversee the not so good bunkers (ask Neil) and the dry teeing areas. Some work needs to be done on both of them. The greens ran true, with one or two slower than others, but overall one to consider again for maybe next year or the year after.

Just a brief reminder to get in touch with Phil regarding presentation evening. Get you table booked now. In the next month or so we will start to look at menu's etc. The venue and entertainment have already been booked.

If anyone fancies sponsoring an event or anything to do with the Society please come forward. It will be greatly appreciated.

Anyway, the next course is Bromsgrove, see below. As usual please get your monies into me urgently for this.

Hope to see more of you there this time.

1. Fallen Ángel

As you read this, former Masters champion Ángel Cabrera is doing time in an Argentine jail after being convicted of convicted of domestic violence charges. The 51-year-old two-time major champion was found guilty of assaulting, threatening and harassing his former girlfriend Cecilia Torres Mana. What makes this story particularly extraordinary is the fact that Cabrera was arrested in Brazil in January after going on the run, even winding up on Interpol's 'Red List'. He was extradited back to Argentina in June where he stood trial, where he was found guilty and sentenced to two years in prison. So, no Masters Champions Dinner for him in 2022...

2. Criminal Masters mind

Speaking of The Masters, a man was arrested in February after being caught trespassing on the grounds of Augusta National Golf Club. Grayson Beveridge, a 26-year-old from the Augusta suburb of Martinez, reportedly told officers that he had snuck onto arguably the most famous property in golf because he "was bored" and wanted to have "some fun".

3. Take me to your clubhouse leader

It's unlikely any golfer made as many headlines this year as Bryson DeChambeau. This, though, was probably his most bizarre. Ahead of the US PGA Championship in May, the American told the SiriusXM PGA Tour Network radio show about the time he encountered a UFO. DeChambeau detailed how he, instructor Chris Como and friend Adam Hurley were in his backyard in Texas during the COVID-19 lockdown in 2020 when they saw "three little silver metallic discs" moving in the distance. "They were all moving in a triangle shape," he said the 28-year-old. "We were out there for literally just under an hour thinking, 'What the heck is this?'" The discs vanished after the trio went briefly indoors. Apparently.
